

Foreign Trade University (Vietnam) paid a courtesy visit to our graduate school

Dr. Vu Hien, Director of International Affairs at the Foreign Trade University (Vietnam), visited the Graduate School on Wednesday, the 7th of November, 2018. During her visit an active discussion regarding student exchanges was held with Prof. Terui, Dean of the Graduate School of Economics, and Vice Dean Hibiki (Director of the International Exchange Office).

Founded in 1960, the Foreign Trade University is a national university in Vietnam with campuses in the two major economic development areas of Hanoi and Ho Chi Minh. It is top class in the field of economics nationally. We have deepened collaborations between our two universities through developing and implementing short-term study abroad programs. It is hoped that further exchanges between the research fields of both universities will be promoted in the future.

After the discussions, Dr. Vu Hien visited the international OASIS in the multidisciplinary lecture building, and spent some time interacting with students related to the Trade University and experienced Japanese culture.
